WEST VIRGINIA RANKS SECOND

Among the States in the Production of Coke, But Price Is Low.

2,637,123 TONS IN 1908

Was a Decrease of Over 35 Per Cent. Compared to Production of 1907. Average Price Was $2 Per Ton. Flat Top District Leads.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—West Virginia ranks second among the States in the quantity of coke produced, though Alabama leads West Virginia in the value of the product. In 1908, according to E. W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, whose report on the manufacture of coke in 1908 is now in press, West Virginia's coke product exceeded that of Alabama's by 274,157 tons, while the value of Alabama's product exceeded that of West Virginia's by $1,002,817. Although there is no question that the quality of the West Virginia coke is fully up to that of Alabama, the latter possesses the advantage of markets close at hand in the iron manufacturing industries of the State, whereas practically all of West Virginia's output is shipped to furnaces outside the State's borders. This effect of these conditions is shown by the fact that while West Virginia's product in 1908 was worth an average of $2 a ton, the value of the Alabama product averaged $3.04.

The production of coke in West Virginia in 1908 amounted to 2,637,123 short tons, valued at $5,274,554, against 4,112,586 short tons, valued at $9,717,130, in 1907. The decrease in 1908 from 1907 amounted to 35.38 per cent in quantity and 45.8 per cent in value. The average price per ton declined from $2.36 to $2. The number of ovens increased from 19,883 to 20,124, although there was a decrease in the number of establishments from 142 to 138. Three of the abandoned establishments, with a total of 104 ovens, were in the Upper Monongahela district and had been idle for a number of years. Of the 135 establishments, 34, with a total of 2,005 ovens, were idle during the year—18 in the Upper Monongahela district, 12 in the New River district, 2 in the Kanawha district, and 1 each in the Flat Top and Upper Potomac districts. Approximately 60 per cent of the coal used for coke making in West Virginia is slack, nearly all of which was used without being washed. Of the 4,127,739 tons of coal charged into the ovens in 1908, 226,627 tons was washed. Of the unwashed coal 694,470 tons was run-of-mine and 2,205,623 tons slack.

Coke is produced in West Virginia in five districts, the Upper Monongahela, the Upper Potomac, the Kanawha, the New River, and the Flat Top. The first two are in the northern part of the State and are drained by the headwaters of the Monongahela and Potomac rivers. The other three districts are in the southern part of the State. The New River district includes the ovens along the line of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway and its branches from Quinlan to Hawks Nest. The Kanawha district embraces all the ovens along the Kanawha river and its tributaries from Mount Carbon to the western limit of the coal fields. The Flat Top region is drained by the upper portion of New River and includes the ovens in West Virginia which belong to the Pocahontas coal field. The Flat Top district is by far the most important and bears the same relation to the production of West Virginia that the Connellsville district bears to that of Pennsylvania. The output from this district averages 50 per cent of the total coke product of the State. The production in 1908 decreased in every district.

Until the close of 1902 the Flat Top district was, next to the Connellsville district of Pennsylvania, the most important coke-producing region of the United States, but the largely increased production of the Lower Connellsville or Klondike district of Pennsylvania in 1902 placed that district above the Flat Top. Like the coal of the Connellsville region, that of the Flat Top district produces a coke which makes an ideal blast furnace fuel. Chemically the Flat Top coke is superior to that of Connellsville, as it is lower in mineral content or ash, and it is regarded by some ironmasters as equal in physical properties to the Connellsville coke. The Flat Top district began producing in 1886.

B. & O. STRIKERS NOT HIT SO HARD

Have an Injunction Issued Against Them But It Is Very Mild, They Say.

The Baltimore & Ohio strikers appeared before the United States Circuit Court in Pittsburgh yesterday to show cause why an injunction should not be granted against them in behalf of the railroad and the strikers came out of the argument with flying colors. The injunction was granted, but it is remarkably mild in its provisions. The strikers are restrained from congregating near the property of the company or along the approaches thereto; and also are warned not to interfere with the company, or its employees. There is nothing, however, that restrains the men from talking with the strikebreakers. This will permit them to use moral suasion to prevent men from going to work in the shops. Attorneys for the company desired to have the men restrained from addressing the strikebreakers, but the court refused this request.

The strikers are happy over the outcome of the proceedings and have formed a new and better opinion of the injunction laws as a result of the experience.

CANONSBURG SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED ONE MONTH

In The Interest of Public Health. On Account of Scarlet Fever They Did Not Open Yesterday.

An epidemic of scarlet fever has caused the postponement of the opening of the Canonsburg schools for one month. The out of town teachers have been notified of this condition by telegram and telephone and the opening may be further off than is now thought to be.

The Board of Health recommended this course, as there have been a number of cases of scarlet fever broken out in the town, and it is feared that if the children mingle at school the spread will be much wider.

FELL FROM APPLE TREE.

Little Foreigner So Badly Scared When Farmer Came He Dropped.

Little Joe Coville, of Leisegang No. 3 got the worst of an argument with an apple tree Saturday and is badly battered up as the result of his experience. It seems that Joe sneaked into an orchard and was up in the tree getting apples when the farmer appeared on the scene.

In his hurry to escape Joe tumbled out of the tree without regard to life or limb. Today he came to town with his parents to have the injuries dressed. They consist of a broken left arm, a badly cut right hand and a worse battered head. Joe looks as though he had been through the war.

SOME WARMER.

Gale Threatened Last Night But It Did Not Bring Rain.

A mountain storm which blew a gale and threatened rain swept over town during the night, but while there were not a few clouds in the sky this morning, prospects were for a clear day.

The mercury this morning registered 72, against 57 and 76 for yesterday.

LONE ROBBER HOLDS UP TRAIN; GETS LINCOLN PENNIES.

Pittsburg Northern Express Ranacked Near Harrisburg, But Robber After Successfully Getting Money Drops the Wrong Sack.

United Press Telegram.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—Train No. 39, the Pittsburg Northern Express, was held up at 1:30 o'clock this morning by one lone highwayman. The Adams express car was looted of gold bullion to the extent of $5,000 and several thousand Lincoln pennies. The bullion was recovered but the robber has so far escaped with the pennies.

The robbery occurred at Lewistown Narrows, 52 miles out of Harrisburg. Dynamite was placed on the tracks and the engine exploded it as it passed over it. Engineer Donnelly and Fireman Willis stopped the train. They were immediately covered by a masked man, who boarded the engine, and ordered them to lead the way to the express car.

The engineer and fireman clambered aboard with the highwayman, he keeping them covered all the time with his revolver. The highwayman then exploded the combination of the safe and took out the bullion. He ordered the engineer to hold the sack while the messenger poured the loot into it. While this was going on the pennies were discovered, and ordered placed in a sack in the same way.

Messenger T. L. Clayton appeared at the rear door and was promptly covered with a revolver and forced to obey orders. Conductor Isaac P. Posner came up from the rear of the train to investigate the trouble and was shot in the left hand when he hesitated to return to the rear. Fireman Willis was then compelled to carry the sacks of bullion and pennies up the mountain side. When he had taken them a considerable distance he was ordered back to the train with a merry, "God, luck, and good bye."

The alarm was given the railroad detectives at Altoona and a posse under Captain Charles Potter, found the bullion in the mountains near the scene of the robbery. It is believed that the robber discovered that he could not carry both sacks and in his hurry dropped the bullion by mistake.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 31.—Engineer Donnelly of the train held up at Lewistown Narrows, left his engine here. He declared he couldn't realize what all happened or took place. He said there were three explosions under the train. When he stopped his train the robber boarded the engine and asked if there were any mail cars attached. The engineer answered no, and then the robber compelled him and the fireman to go to the express car which was in charge of Messenger Clayton, who was shot at when he put his head from the door. Clayton said there was no money there, so they entered Harper's car. All were held at bay by revolver while the safe was broken. The robber compelled them to hold the sacks while he emptied the money into them and also had them assist in carrying away the loot. The engineer and fireman were badly scared.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—Passengers on the train held up at Lewistown Narrows were surprised on their arrival in Pittsburgh to learn of the holdup. The work of the highwayman was done so quietly none awakened. Messenger Harper stated at Union Station that the cool, daring robbery paralyzed the crew.

A formal statement of the holdup was issued. Examination of the safe shows the robber to be an expert. Just enough glycerine was placed in the seams of the lock to burst them and cause the tumblers to drop without injuring the doors.

WEST PENN FAMILY AT OAKFORD PARK

Part of Them Have Their Day of Rest Today and Balance Will Go on Thursday.

Special cars headed in the direction of Oakford Park carried hundreds of West Penn employees to the annual picnic which began today. Those who had to remain at home and keep the road from running away from itself will go out for a good time Thursday. Superintendent of Transportation J. W. Brown, who had to be at Oakford to see that the picnic went off all right turned the keys over to Dispatcher Vince Barry, who is the big road gun left in town. Vince said that the road that runs on time did it today.

Almost a thousand people are at Oakford today and are having a great time. All say that this is the best picnic ever and the picknickers today declare that those of Thursday will have to go some to have a better time.

One big magnet this morning was the 10 freezers of ice cream that were loaded on the cars here. Motorman Banty Freeman, who was guardian of the consignment, had a hard time keeping it intact as far as the park.

GETS HEARING THURSDAY.

That is Date Set for Arraignment of R. M. Matthews.

Robert M. Matthews will be given a hearing before Alderman McMathews in Pittsburgh, probably Thursday. He was not held for court Saturday, as has been stated, but was merely given a preliminary hearing. Being unable to furnish bail, he was committed to the Allegheny county jail for his hearing.

Attorney E. C. Higbee may attend the hearing, but this has not yet been determined. Matthews, who lived here, is charged with bigamy.

Accompanied by Sheriff P. A. Johns, Appraising Berryhill Property.

Joseph A. Mason, C. W. Patterson, F. B. Markell, E. Dunn, Cyrus E. Eard and Philip Wilkey are today appraising the property of the late H. P. Berryhill. The township property of the deceased will be viewed first.

Charter Granted.

Redick Run Coal & Coke Company, of Clarkburg, W. Va., has been chartered with a capital of $74,945. Incorporators are: Isaac G. Robby, Robert M. Carroll, Edward D. Brown, Uniontown; Samuel G. Rothmell, Robinson G. Volkner, McClellandtown.

Passes Through Uniontown. John Schumann of Baltimore, who is walking to Chicago pushing a wheelbarrow, passed through Uniontown last night. He is to make the round trip between Chicago and New York for $1,000.

Typhoid Epidemic Threatens. Eleven cases of typhoid fever have been discovered in the southeastern portion of Uniontown and the health authorities are alarmed and fear a typhoid fever epidemic.

Epidemic's First Fatality.

Lemuel H. Wadsworth, one of the victims of typhoid fever at Bradenville, ate solids too soon, and died Saturday.

SEVEN BABIES ARE CREMATED.

More May Be in the Ruins of St. Malachy's Home Burned Today.

THOUGHT ALL WERE OUT

Sister Joseph Saved Hundreds by Perfection of Fire Drill—Men Searching the Ruins Find Charred Remains of Children.

United Press Telegram.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Seven bodies of young children, burned beyond recognition, were found today in the ruins of St. Malachy's Home for Children, on Rockaway Beach. The firemen are searching the ruins of the building for more, and it is believed that others will be found under the burned and twisted ruins of the building.

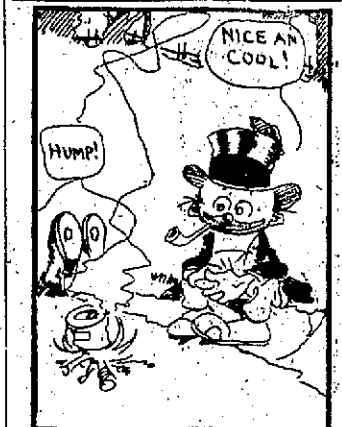

It was first reported that all the children had escaped but later a search revealed the bodies of the little ones, some of them almost burned to a crisp and revealing the horrible manner in which they died.

That more than scores were not burned in the conflagration is due to the heroism of Sister Joseph who led the children in a fire drill from the building. Fire was discovered in the engine room and the fire drill was quickly called. When the street was reached and the roll call was made it was believed all had escaped, and it is unknown how the seven tots were caught in the fire.

Leaves Are Falling. Many South Side trees have been denuded of their leaves by the wind. The leaves are beginning to turn and fall rapidly.

Killed by State.

John Nick, aged 45, was killed by a fall of slate in the first pool mine of the Pittsburg Coal Company yesterday.

Showers. Showers tonight; Wednesday cooler, is the noon weather bulletin.

STOLE COKE PULLEY.

Man Admits His Guilt and the Case is Settled.

On a charge of larceny John L. Al-last of Blittner was arrested yesterday morning by Constable S. E. Nelson of the West Side and given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Squire P. M. Buttermore of the West Side. The information was made by Joseph Gammack, who accused Al-last of stealing a coke pulley. The defendant admitted the theft. The prosecutor withdrew the information and the case was settled by the defendant paying the costs.

TATTERS OF SMITH HOUSE IS NO MORE

Cooper Patterson Ran Her Down Yesterday on Main Street and She Died Soon After.

Tatters is no more. The big white building of the Smith House passed into a better world yesterday through the medium of Cooper Patterson's automobile. A sun bath in the middle of Main street resulted fatally for Tatters and from now on gentlemen of African descent can pass the hotel without fear of molestation.

Tatters had a grudge against most colored folks and these latter usually went down Main street on the opposite side from the hotel. The canine family about the hotel has had a bad month of it. Just last week one of Tatters' pups took a nap on the street car track and was beheaded, while another pup had its foot run over by a street car. The untimely end of the mother capped the climax.

The big building was a favorite with those who came to know her, and in spite of her apparent vicious disposition, she was as mild mannered as a kitten.

DAWSON SCHOOLS OPEN AUSPICIOUSLY

121 Pupils Registered on First Day Which is Considered Good Showing.

The Dawson public schools opened yesterday with an attendance of 121 pupils enrolled in the four rooms. This is considered an excellent beginning and is very encouraging to the teachers as well as the Directors.

It is the intention of the teachers and pupils to have this a banner year and with their combined efforts their plans will no doubt be successfully carried out. The corps of teachers is the same as that of last year, namely, H. K. Brooks, Principal, Misses Rowan, French and Bailey.

NOT SO SERIOUS.

Magistrate Finds Case Simple One and Dismisses It.

Mrs. Steve Corridio and Mike Corridio were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Frank Miller last night on charges of disorderly conduct preferred by Agency Rolsfesi of Swagertown. Several witnesses testified to the nature of the disorder but it did not appear too serious to the Squire, who dismissed the case upon payment of costs by the defendants.

Before letting the offenders off, however, Squire Miller warned them to behave themselves in the future or they would not get off so easily.

EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT.

Ed Dublin Arrested on Charge of Assault and Battery Dismissed.

Ed Dublin, who lives in the Association grounds, was arrested on charges of assault and battery preferred by Anna McKitterick, but the evidence did not meet the girl's story and Dublin was dismissed.

It appears that Dublin's children tossed stones at Anna when she went past driving the cows, while Dublin appeared in time to call the young steers back. He did not throw any stones and was acting in the defendant's behalf.

Improving Nicely.

Charles L. Gray, who was injured in a runaway at Masontown, is improving nicely, and will soon be able to move about among his friends on crutches.

No Change in Strike.

There is no change in the machinists strike on the B. & O. and nearly all the old machinists have secured positions elsewhere.

New Team Satisfactory.

The new street team, purchased by Council is working every day and it is said they are an excellent pair of horses.

Want Safe Crossings.

Citizens of Wilkinsburg are protesting against the Pennsylvania long-delaying safe crossings promised.

Cold in Mountain.

Those spending their vacation in the mountains report that the nights are unpleasantly cold.

SENTENCE COURT WAS HELD TODAY.

Number of Offenders Learn Their Fate Before the Bar of Justice.

SALTY DOSE FOR CARNEGIE

He Goes to Penitentiary for Two Years as Result of Monarch Cutting Scrapes New Trial Because Prosecutor Had Relative on the Jury.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 31.—Sentence court was held this morning, and a number of offenders learned their fate. The saltiest dose handed out was that of John Carnegie, who was accused of felonious cutting, John Yaniste being the victim. Some time ago Carnegie served a jail sentence for attempting to ravish the girl Yaniste later married, and the cutting was the outgrowth of that affair. Carnegie will linger within the portals of the Western Penitentiary for the next two years.

John Torrence, a negro chicken thief, will do a year in the workhouse, and has been requested to remain in that vicinity after being released. Torrence was prosecuted by Chief of Police Rottler for stealing chickens valued at $70 from William Miner, Chris Fleming, Mrs. Sarah Rubin and J. Melvin Grey, all of Connellsville.

John Miklis and Walter Benark of Moyer and James Miller of Fayette City were assessed the costs for violating the mining laws. All used kerosene oil in their lamps.

Henry Gallahorn will be the guest of Sheriff P. A. Johns for 60 days as the result of furnishing liquor to persons of interperate habits.

Hugh Pastory, who broke into a vacant house near Oilport was left off upon paying the costs. This was done because of the wife and many children—Hugh must support.

John Carro, convicted of assault and battery at the last term of court, and charged at the same time with statutory rape upon his own daughter, will get a new trial. It has developed that C. W. Kiefer, who prosecuted Carro, had a relative on the jury and the new trial is allowed on these grounds.

Two divorces were granted by the court today and one almost breaks a record. Annie Lazarchik is given freedom from the marital bonds which held her to Mike Lazarchik, cruel treatment being the grounds for the action. The two were only married in February of this year.

Mary Lukack gets a divorce from Joe Lukack because Joe has been unfaithful to his marriage vows.

ELECTS OFFICERS.

West Penn Land Company to Have Lot Sale.

The West Penn Land Company elected officers at the office of Engineer J. B. Hogg in Uniontown last night. J. B. Hogg of Connellsville was elected President; Charles Hempstead of New Salem, Transcend and S. T. Brashear of Connellsville, Secretaries. The other members of the company are F. P. Marr of Idaho; J. C. Keck of New Salem; R. L. Lockridge of Brownsville, and R. D. North of Connellsville.

The company owns a plan of lots near Brownsville known as East Merrittstown. These will be disposed of at a stake sale on September 15. The plan was laid out into 341 lots by Engineer Hogg.

To Charter Company.

Paul Maury, James S. Braddock, George W. Wilson, Christian Eckard, O. E. Hibbs, Wade H. Eckard, J. M. Bates, W. J. Dickson, Frank Day, John De Frank, Walter Sheppard, Charles Kendall, will apply to the Governor of Pennsylvania on September 3 for a charter for a corporation to be known as the Franklin Coke Company.

Dutch Meyers Gets Into the Game And Local Fans Are Rejoicing.

Dutch Meyers, pride of the Coker team, broke into fast company for the first time yesterday when he covered right field for the Brooklyn Superbas. No youngster can boast of a better beginning than Meyers, for his first chance in the garden was a long fly from the great and only Wagner. He collared it in fine style, too. Later Bobby Byrne, the new Pirate, gave him his only other chance in the game.

While not getting a safe hit, Lefty Leifeld being utiny with his bingles, Meyers connected with the ball each of the four times he came to bat. Compared with Hunter, the pitcher who has been playing in right field for some time past, Meyers made a good impression with the Brooklyn fans and it is predicted that he will remain in the game for the balance

Not a Safe Bank.

Antonio Katinus of Brier Hill hid his savings of $323 in his shoe, following the failure of a New Salem bank, and on Saturday night when he went to look for it it was missing.

Vandals Smash School Furniture; Principal Rejoices Over New Desk.

MT. PLEASANT, Aug. 31.—The District School at Parfittown was broken into during the vacation time and when the teacher, Ogle Long, of Stout, fer entered it Monday morning books were strewn over the floor and the room was in disorder by a litter of dirt, erasers, pencils and all kinds of school supplies. The miscreants who were probably boys from that neighborhood, had broken out nearly every pane of glass in the windows and by this way had gained entrance to the school.

The loss from destruction of books will reach about $15. To fill a personal dislike for their teacher they had broken the well worn teacher's desk into pieces, fine enough to light the fire in the huge heating stove, standing in the corner of the room. The teacher says that he would give the boy that broke his desk a dollar if he could find him, as his efforts were instrumental in making the directors furnish him a new cherry wood desk of the latest make. The township schools opened Monday and the enrollment was not nearly up to the expectations.

In one of the schools near Morewood, only one pupil responded to the loud ringing of the school bell and the teacher using the boy as a mesewonger sent him around to the houses of former pupils and in this manner had secured 26 pupils by noon. The same room last year had an enrollment of 78. The classes are equally small in other schools. Bridgeport High School has a large enrollment and with Prof. Homer Wright at its head it promises to break all attendance records during the present year.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING TODAY.

Miss Cyrilla Soisson and Jas. B. Stader Are Participants.

TOOK PLACE AT 8 O'CLOCK

In the Presence of a Large Assembly of Relatives and Friends—Followed by an Elaborate Wedding Breakfast—Both Well Known.

The immaculate Conception Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding this morning at 8 o'clock when Miss Cyrilla Soisson, eldest daughter of W. F. Soisson of West Peach street, and James Bonadict Stader were united in marriage. The ceremony was witnessed by a vast assembly of friends and relatives of the young couple. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride and groom, escorted by the bride's father, entered the church. First came the bride and her father followed by her maid of honor, Miss Marcella Keller of Pittsburgh. At the altar they were met by the bridegroom and his brother, Hilary Stader, of Latrobe, who acted as best man. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Father J. T. Burns and during Mass "Trautman" was rendered by the orchestra. The bride made a charming picture in a handsome white satin gown, fashioned empire and trimmed with rose points lace trimmed with two large willow plumes. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses while her only ornament was a diamond necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor wore a pink chiffon gown over silk and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses tied with maline. She wore a pink chiffon hat trimmed with pink plumes.

Following the ceremony the bride party returned to the home of the bride where an elaborately appointed wedding breakfast was served. A color scheme of pink and green was prettily carried out in the decorations and breakfast. In the center of the table was a low mound of bride's roses while from the chandeliers were wide pink satin ribbon streamers terminating in large bows at either corner of the table. The bride's gift to her maid of honor, Miss Keller, was a very handsome necklace while the bridegroom's gift to the best man and ushers were John Duggan, Plus Keller, Robert and Dan Soisson, the latter two brothers of the bride, were very pretty scarlet pins. Covers at the bride table were laid for the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stader of Latrobe, parents of the bridegroom, W. F. Soisson and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stader, Hilary Stader, Mr. and Mrs. John Stader, John Lohr, Sr., Miss Marcella Keller, Miss Catherine Johnson, Miss Cecil Soisson, Leon Soisson, John Duggan, Plus Keller.

Displayed in the large hall on the second floor was a costly array of wedding gifts including cut glass, china, silver, linens, etc.

Following the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Stader left for New York and other eastern cities where they will spend their honeymoon. Accompanied by members of the bride party and a few intimate friends the young couple was conveyed to the depot in a large chariot.

The bride is a very charming young lady and is very popular in the social circle in which she moves. She was educated at Mt. Aloysius Academy at Greentown, Pa. Prior to her marriage she was extensively entertained by her many young friends. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stader of Latrobe, and is teller at the Young National Bank.

Among the out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stader, Mr. and Mrs. John Stader, of Latrobe; Mr. and Mrs. William Clydesdale, of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lohr of West Virginia; Miss Cecil Soisson and Leon Soisson of Norwalk, O.; Miss Anna Finch of Pensacola, Fla.; Miss Catherine Johnson, of Greentown, Ill., and Mrs. James Dixon of Meyersdale.

A SPECIALIST SAYS:

"Piles Can't Be Thoroughly Cured By Outward Treatment."

Dr. J. S. Leonard, of Lincoln, Neb., the celebrated specialist, who has studied every phase of piles, says: "Piles can't be thoroughly cured by ointments, nor any other outside treatment. The cause is internal, and needs internal treatment." Dr. Leonard perfected Hem-Roid, the first internal pile cure. It treats circulation in the lower bowels, and has cured 95 per cent. of cases.

The Comic Opera "Mikado."

"The Mikado," for the benefit of the Uniontown Y. M. C. A., will be given Sept. 1st at the Colonial Theatre, Connellsville, at 8:15 P. M. by a company of 15 singers, headed by Mrs. Susan Brooke Lutherford. Seats 50 cents to $1.00 now on sale at Sam F. Hood's.

Many at Picnic.

Hundreds of Elks are picnicking at Shady Grove park today. Several carloads of members of the order and families went from Connellsville.

EXPENSIVE PICTURES ADVERTISE LABOR DAY.

Trades and Labor Council Use High Class Models in Proclaiming Big Celebration.

Probably the most expensive piece of advertising matter ever distributed in Connellsville is that being placed today by the Trades Council advertising its Labor Day celebration at Shady Grove park. It consists of a series of seven pictures, 19x32 inches, typifying various branches of industry. Prominently among them is the masterpiece of Urquhart Wilcox, the well known artist of Uxton, which took the grand prize at the Paris showing five years ago.

The picture represents an American iron worker of superb physique, and is a composite, 14 men acting as models. For the original Honey B. Hall a Boston publisher paid $225,000. The replica is rich in color, the lithographing being done by the Courier Company of Buffalo, and the letterpress by the Courier Company, Connellsville.

Among the other pictures are "The Foreman," by Alice Ruggles; "The Fiddler," J. N. Goodman; "The Glassworker," by Ruggles; "The Miner," by Wilson; "The Steelworker," by Ruggles; and "The Woodworker," by the same painter. The series is loaned for this occasion by N. Wile & Company, makers of high grade clothing, who own the copyrights.

Another Game.

The Uniontown lawyers and the Everson team will play another game of ball Saturday at Cycle park.

Peaches Are Ripe.

The crop of peaches is beginning to arrive from the local orchards.

SOCIAL.

Cards for Guests.

In honor of their aunt, Mrs. Maritz Hunker, and daughters, Florence and Louise, Mr. and Mrs. James Hixon entertained at a well appointed card party last Thursday evening at their home at Ruffsdale. Among the out-of-town guests present was Miss Minnie Stillwagon of Connellsville.

Lawn Party.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Boerborer and daughters, Ethel and Ruth of Connellsville, were among the out-of-town guests present at a lawn party given by James and Elsie Horst at their country home near Mount Airy, Pa.

Meeting Postponed.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church, which was to have been held Thursday of this week has been postponed until the following Thursday.

Basket Picnic.

The G. I. A. to the B. of L. E. is holding a basket picnic this afternoon at Shady Grove Park. Many members of the auxiliary and their friends are in attendance. Supper will be served at the park.

Polito.

"THE MIKADO" MADE GREAT HIT

At Uniontown, and Will Be Given in Connellsville Tomorrow Evening

AT THE COLONIAL THEATRE

The Parts Were Sung and Acted With Marked Cleverness and Draw a Big Audience—Under Direction of Two Connellsville People.

Gilbert & Sullivan's opera "The Mikado," which has all the elements of fame and immortality, if so, was produced last night at the West End theatre, Uniontown, with dazzling success. It will be repeated tonight, and produced in Connellsville tomorrow evening at the Colonial theatre. The production was a musical event, and a society one as well. Those who took part in the cast were Jack Fuller, Fred Miller, O'Neill Kennedy, Raymond Lowellyn, Ralph Chambers, Ella Brooke, Paul Brooke and Elizabeth Brooke and Mrs. Susan Brooke Lutherford. That Uniontown vocalists are cultured in singing and have ability was well demonstrated, for the production won the most generous applause and approval. The production is for the benefit of the fund for the building of the new Y. M. C. A. home.

The costumes were elegant, the scenic effects good, and in every way "The Mikado" was a most enjoyable entertaining and high class amateur production. Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stuart of Connellsville directed the entire production and their work was considered superb.

One of the clever features of last night's performance was the presence of several young women in the audience selling candles and ice—"for the Y. M. C. A." as they naively put it. Costumed appropriately in Japanese fashion, they contributed much to the setting of the performance. They were the Misses Edith Springer, Estella Barnes, Mary Matthews and Mary Crum.

The chorus of school girls, nobles, guards and coolies, is as follows:

Rhonda Dearth, Carolyn Kennedy, Nellie Mausi, Lena Davidson, Olive McCann, Georgia Sutton, Margaret Dearth, Ethel Neiman, Beas Davidson, Adelle Smart, Marie Strong, Susan Fawcett, Leonora Craft, Mildred Neiman, Nell Davidson, Jessie Butler, Mary Russell, Mrs. Fred Litman, Harold Ellis, David Davis, William Sturgeon, Karl Probst, Ray Jenkins, Albert Couchenour, Luke Carroll, Jason Richards, Harold Baer, William Beckwith, Dr. Echert, Oscar Coble, Ray Coffman, Howard Hopwood, Homer Jones, Edgar Burke, Thomas Semans, Arthur Kegel, Clarence Campbell, Frank Smith.

All of the lower boxes were filled last night, the holders being Mesdames R. E. Umbel, John Lynch, I. W. Semans, J. R. Carothers, E. S. Hackney and M. H. Bowman.

ADVERTISING.
THE DAILY COURIER is the only daily newspaper in the Connelville area which has the capacity and equipment to print a daily report under the exact number of copies it prints for distribution. Other papers put forth some extravagant claims, but furnish no figures. Advertising rates on application.

THE WEEKLY COURIER is the recognized organ of the Connelville area. It has special value as an industrial journal and an advertising medium for such interests.

SUBSCRIPTION.

reported to the office at once.

TUESDAY EVENING, AUG. 31, 1909.

TYPHOID FEVER
AND TOWN SANITATION.

The appearance of typhoid fever in Connellsville and Uniontown, and the activity of the borough officers in both towns to better sanitary conditions with a view to stamping out the disease before it becomes epidemic, calls to mind the fact that the city officials and not the health officials have been the most active and energetic directors of this necessary work.

This is getting the cart before the horse.

The Health Officer should not sit idly on the dock and wait for small boats to come in laden with private complaints. He should be a restless sailor. He should constantly cruise about the streets and alleys and promises public and private of the town on an endless voyage of discovery. Complaints about sanitary conditions are never so numerous as the conditions themselves. A man does not like to incur the enmity of his neighbor by making complaints against him, or in homely phrase
"having the law on him," and so suffers the ill he has rather than flow to others he knows not of.

The trouble with the average Health Officer is the average borough is his appointment is too often a political reward rather than a public action for the public good, and often rather otherwise the Health Officer waits at the dock instead of sailing the seas of public sanitation in search of the monsters of disease which lurk in its rotten and reeking bays and inlets.

The Health Officer should be careful and conscientious, capable and honest, and above all, vigilant, active and brave. Upon his work depends in a large measure the health and the very life of the citizens. The public cannot afford to have the position made a sinecure.

The people are easy-going and will not protest against an easy-going Health Officer as long as dangers do not threaten, but when an epidemic of disease strikes them in the face they begin to consider the causes and hold to strict accountability any public officials who have in any manner neglected their duties or have performed them carelessly or indifferently.

We sincerely hope that we shall not have occasion to refer to this matter again, but if we do we shall not shrink a plain public duty. This is not a threat, but a warning.

SAMUEL COMPER'S
VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY.

The International Trades Union Congress, now in session at Paris, wants to know what Samuel Comper is doing there.

It seems that Sammy has failed to make a bit. He announced that he was merely a visitor, but would kindly help the delegates do the talking.
That is one of Sammy's specialties.
He has been doing the talking, or most of it, for union labor in this country so long that he feels that it's his own particular job.

But it seems that Europe has some splendors, too, and they don't propose to have any mere outsider monopolize the limelight. They have made it plain to the American Federation of Labor's Big Boss that if he is merely on another voyage of discovery he had better sail on in silence and not insist upon acting as a chief pilot in strange waters.

There seems to be an unusual amount of politics in most organized labor. The Continental Trades Unionists have evidently been reading something about Sammy in the newspapers.
If there is any political nuance or personal glory in their jobs they do not propose to permit a visitor to appropriate to himself the lion's share of them.

They want to shine with their own effulgence and not by the reflected light of Samuel Comper.

high. The wisdom of using the banks for depositaries is, therefore, apparent.

The rate of timber consumption need not be told the people of Fayette county. They have seen the devastation of a quarter of a century, and they may well be startled by the thought of

When It Leaves to Write 'em D. C.

We sometimes display our editorials in two columns instead of one, and the Connellsville Courier does the same occasionally, and therefore reason for it too, but the Connellsville News does not seem to know it, for it criticizes the Courier in a nasty way and illuminates that when the Courier does it, it is following the lead of the "D. C." key-note News. We don't think that we think that the Courier does it for the same reason we do. We both write editorials sometimes so filled with virility and ratiocination that if we try to put them into a single column they will partition down and there is nothing else to do of course but give such editorials the space they require.
When the Connellsville News is able to write that kind they will understand something that is a puzzle to them now.

CONTEMPORARIES.

The Washington Observer intimates that Washington county's great Martina mines has a press bureau of its own.

The Observer has made similar insinnuations before. If the charge is true, the press agency has had a lot of undesirable stuff to handle, and has perhaps earned its salary.

The Latrobe Bulletin wants Stop-

The public ought to know enough to be careful in its dealings with agents who are here today and gone tomorrow, who return seldom in any event and never in the event that they are arrested; but, even if the sign could be attached to this particular class of tradesmen, it probably wouldn't make a particle of difference.

The Johnstown Democrat protests

The Washington Observer insists upon everybody taking a little country air this summer, even if it's only out in the township in a rented shack, and talks enthusiastically and beautifully about the milk which he gets from his own cow and the fresh corn and potatoes which he digs from his own garden.

There is no summer talk. It's a year-round proposition and is defective only in the fact that it doesn't mention the hay and fodder and the apples, and cider.

NEXT YEAR'S GAME.

Roosevelt will probably visit China next year in the interests of the American trade.—News Item.

WASHINGTON
CORRESPONDENCE.

United Press Special.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, the "Iron Duke of American Politics," is going to have a rough road to travel during the coming session of Congress.
That is the opinion of members here who are following the situation closely. The throwing of the gaunlet by Representative Power of New Jersey and his dramatic arrangement of the Speaker and his "machine" in the House, is but the preliminary act of those who are really engaged in laying plans to encompass the downfall of the Danville statesman and the policies for which he stands.
The so-called insurgents made a vigorous but ineffectual fight against "Cannonism" at the last session. They lost, but it is extremely doubtful whether the Speaker really "got even"
with those reformers by giving them the poorest committee assignments in his power. The insurgents themselves are rather pleased that the Speaker treated them in this way—it gives them more ammunition for the "next battle" and it only strengthens their contention that the present government of the country is the product of the House is the Speaker's power of suppressing men on committees, or in "packing" the committees so that they will be pliant to his will.
Then too, Speaker Cannon's reputation wasn't enhanced particularly by the course he adopted during the tariff session. He was aligned with the high duty advocates. It was "Uncle Joe" who led the fight for a duty on oil; it was "Uncle Joe" who strenuously worked for increased rates on gloves and hosiery; it was "Uncle Joe" who later was found working—quietly but vigorously—against Pres-

SPECIAL ORDERS.

Most suit departments fight shy of special orders. We try to avoid them; ourselves in the middle of the season. It is so hard to give a special order the attention it must have, when suit manufacturers are rushed with orders and behind hand with their work. Just now is the time if you require a special order to get that attention that a special deserves. During the next two weeks or so we pay extra attention to these special orders and we can promise that there will be no delay in the delivery of the special.

New Suits.

Have you had a look at these new suits we are showing. If so what do you think of the prices at which they are marked? How about those at $35. This week we want to talk price and talk it as strong as we know how. We want to do a big suit business this fall.
Larger than we have ever done in years past. Intend to merit this increased business by showing you suit values that you cannot afford to pass, if you have a suit want.
These suit values will come about by right buying and by our marking these suits on the very lowest margin of profit possible for this store to mark them at and do business. Having the right kind of suits and marked to sell in this way it is just a question whether you will come and get acquainted with this suit stock and we believe that you are just as much interested in these extra values as we are and we believe you have enough confidence in this store to know that we would not make statements such as this unless we had the suits here and at prices such as we have talked about above. We expect a good many women in to look over these suits the coming week. Will you be among them? Our invitation says whether you wish to buy now or later here or elsewhere you'll be welcome.

Fall Rugs and Carpets are nearly all here now and we'll be glad to have you see them. Call special attention to this showing of Body Brussels and Velvet Rugs in 9x13 sizes. New patterns and new colorings and priced at $25, $27, and $30. Designs and colorings that we believe will please you and we guarantee the quality.
Ask your neighbor about this carpet department if you don't know for yourself. Somebody else's opinion of the kind of carpet we have sold in years past and that we have here now may help have you some money on your carpets. We have sold enough carpets in this vicinity for it to not be hard for you to find out all about them.

SCOTSDALE BEER IS TALKED OF.

Said That Brewery May Again Turn Out the Amber Fluid.

40 PRIZES FOR THE PICNIC

That Many Already Secured. It is Said, For Mill Men's Outing To Idlewild on September 11.—Woman's Meeting on Sunday.

SCOTSDALE, Aug. 31.—The bringing here from Mt. Pleasant of the boilers and some of the ice making machinery of the Mt. Pleasant brewery and installing them in the old Scottdale brewery building causes a belief among a good many people that this presages the resumption of the Scottdale brewery in the manufacture of beer, which it turned out in large quantities a few years ago, before it became part of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company. The combine then closed down the Scottdale plant. There is a good building here, which was damaged by fire a few years ago, but which it would not require a great deal of construction work to make ready for machinery to turn out the amber fluid. It is known that the manufacture of ice will be resumed next year, but John M. Kennedy could not be seen today in order to learn whether or not the making of beer will also be resumed. It is certain that ice making will once more be taken up here and many believe, that with prosperous times, the manufacture of beer will again be resumed.

Prizes For the Picnic.
The committee in charge of the mill employees picnic, to Idlewild on September 11 are having all kinds of good luck in making the arrangements for the big event, which they say holds every promise for being the biggest and most enjoyable outing ever held up to Scottdale. Prizes are being gathered in and one of the committee said today that over 40 magnificent prizes have been secured and will be exhibited the latter part of the week in the windows of Owens & Fer-guson's store.

Completing Store Work.
Porter & Stoner are completing the improvements that they have made to their store room, a new roomed front having been put in, which is as fine as one in town. Scottdale stores have some very handsome and modern fronts and this one now about completed is one of the leaders.

Women Will Have Charge.
The women will have charge of the services at the United Brethren Church next Sunday day being the occasion of the Woman's Day service, something that has been a marked yearly feature in the church.
The Woman's Missionary Society will have entire charge of all the doings.
Rev. John R. King, D. D., who is at the head of the United Brethren mission work in Africa, and who, with Mrs. King has been spending his vacation here, with Mrs. King will be the chief speakers. Mrs. King has lately been visiting with her family in Ohio and the two expect soon to return to the Dark Continent. They have spent about 14 years in the work in the African fields.

Miss McLaughlin Dead.
The death of Miss Margaret Mc-Laughlin occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bacon, of Mulberry street, on Sunday, after an illness lasting for two weeks. The deceased was born near Connelville, but lived for several years in Scottdale, much of the time with her sister, Mrs. Bacon. Prof. William Mc-Laughlin, Principal of the Emerson schools, is a brother of the deceased.

Entertained at Cards.
Misses Ethel and Bessie Louise
Smith of Uniontown and Miss Letta Smith of Pittsburgh, are spending several days visiting at the home of their cousins, Mrs. Jesse M. Shend, of Market street. Mrs. Shend entertained at a pretty card party in honor of her guests on Saturday evening.

Funeral Largely Attended.
The funeral of the late Cornelius O'Brien, one of Emerson's best known citizens, a former member of the firm of Reede & O'Brien, and for several years a Director in the Emerson schools, was largely attended yesterday forenoon. It was held from the St. John's Baptist St. C. Church, and followed by burial in St. John's Cemetery. Quite a number of people were present from a distance to pay their last respects to the memory of the deceased.

Attending the Picnic.
Scottdale and Emerson sent quite a delegation to the annual outing of the West Penn Railway Company and the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg Street Railway Company's outing at Oakford Park today. During the forenoon a large number of heavily laden cars of the West Penn passed through here bound for the park. The night men are doing double turn, so that the day men can have the day for the picnic, and this will be reversed on Thursday when the night men will have their outing.

Gas Was Turned On.
The weather played some funny tricks yesterday evening in turning on the cold blast, and in consequence some badly gas fired were called into commission last night to take the edge off the chill air. This morning early the weather had become much warmer, with prospects of rain, the weather was people said.

To The Columbus Fair.
Thomas Gallentine, William Ritchie and Solomon P. Butler of here left today for Ohio to attend the big State fair at Columbus. Mr. Butler is well known chairman of our town, and one who has grown a patch of alfalfa with success, and this is one of the crops that he will study while west.
The other two men are also interested in stock and expect to do some buying of Ohio horses and cattle.

Are Feeling Encouraged.
W. L. Kelly, the real estate man, who has coke interests about Ligonier, said this morning that the waiting for $2 coke is here and that yesterday coke brokers in Pittsburgh quoted coke prices $2 spot for immediate delivery. He says that there seems to be no contracts being made as the brokers cannot get the coke on contract as makers expect it to go higher. Mr. Kelly anticipates the starting up of his interests within a short time, if the market continues to display the firmness that it has lately.

STREET PAVING IS RAPID IN SOMERSET

Contractor is Pushing the Work and Will Complete it Early in the Fall.

SOMERSET, Aug. 30.—Frank Clark, the Johnstown contractor who is paying several streets in Somerset, is pushing the work as rapidly as possible and it is likely that the seven squares of West Main street will be paved within a week. Nearly four squares were paved within five days and all who have inspected the work state that it is excellent. South street will be paved as soon as Main street is completed. Four squares of this street, from South Main Cross street to the B. & O. tracks have been graded and prepared for paving and it is believed that the paving of this street will not occupy more than two weeks.
Workmen are engaged in setting the curb along South Main Cross street and West Patriot street. Four squares of South Main Cross street will be paved, from South street to the borough limits. About four squares of West Patriot street will also be paved.
It is stated that work on Patriot street will not be commenced before the 15th of October.

When this paving is completed the majority of the streets in Somerset will be paved, and the town will present a very attractive appearance. The grade for the streets now in process of paving with few exceptions follows the present grade of the streets and very little filling will be required.

It is stated that there is a movement on foot to pave East Main street for at least four squares and Union street, east and west, for four squares next summer. James C. McSpadden of Rockwood, a well known contractor has secured the contract.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Somerset Door & Column Company, whose plant was burned to the ground last Saturday, it was decided to proceed at once to the construction of a new plant. All orders now on the books of the company will be filled and the company has made arrangements with various mills to furnish them the material for filling those orders. The new plant will be constructed of brick or concrete and will be fireproof. The location has not been determined but it is stated that the site of the old plant will likely be in operation within two months, according to statements by members of the company.

GOING AFTER BROKERS

Postoffice Inspectors Investigating Mining Stock Business.

New York, Aug. 31.—A squad of postoffice inspectors has begun an investigation of complaints against a number of firms doing a stock brokage business on the curb on Broad street. It was announced at the federal building that complaints have been received from nearly every state in the union, stating that circulars advertising worthless mining stocks were being sent through the mails.

If all the mines represented by these stocks, fulfilled the promises of productivity held out, it was said, there would be a supply of gold, silver and copper in the country in a short time that would swamp the markets.

NO BABIES, NO BALLOT

Father Phelan For Family Suffrage to Discourage Race Suicide.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—"Family suffrage" one vote for every baby, or no babies no ballot. This is the proposition of Father D. S. Phelan, editor-in-chief of St. Louis.

The measure which the priest says he will submit to the next session of the legislature at Jefferson City asks for family suffrage in Missouri for the purpose of discouraging race suicide. Father Phelan also will submit a bill prohibiting a divorced husband from marrying the corespondent in a divorce case.

Steepjack Killed in Fall From Chair.
New York, Aug. 31.—Belden Woodring, the steepjack, who rigged the flagpole on the Singer building and who had spent most of his life at dizzy heights, fractured his skull when he fell two feet from a chair to the floor and died soon afterward.
Woodring was leaning back in the chair when it toppled over with him.

HOFFSTOT DENIES CHARGES

District Attorney Blakeley of Allegheny County Will Institute Criminal Proceedings at Once in Connection With Strike.

Pittsburg, Aug. 31.—Thoroughly convinced through the medium of evidence collected by county detectives and secured from other sources that many acts committed in connection with the attempt to break the strike at the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company at Schoenville are in violation of the state laws, District Attorney William A. Blakeley will proceed at once to criminal prosecution of the offenders. This will be done, he insists, without regard to whom the guilty may be. That some very prominent men may be caught in this net is intimated.

In addition to what the district attorney has secured through his force of detectives, all evidence collected by the government agents will be placed at his disposal. He has arranged to secure a verbatim copy of evidence presented at the government peonage hearings.

In collecting evidence the state and federal authorities are working hand in hand and important developments are expected quickly.
It is reported that because of the investigations begun by the state and the national government officials of the Pressed Steel Car company will endeavor to settle the strike at the earliest possible moment. The company is declared to be prepared to institute, if necessary, all the changes demanded by the strikers.

The costly attempt in both lives and money at breaking the strike has accomplished little. The plant practically is idle with little chance of starting again unless concessions are granted to the 6,000 employees who walked out seven weeks ago.

Hoffstot Denies Peonage Charge.
New York, Aug. 31.—President
Frank N. Hoffstot of the Pressed Steel Car company denied the charges of peonage in connection with the company's attempt to operate its plant at McKees Rocks, Pa. He declared that the 1,000 strikebreakers who were taken there two weeks ago had been fully warned of the strike before leaving New York city and said that they had been consistently well taken care of and had been free to quit whenever they chose.

"As a matter of fact," he added,
"these peonage charges have been trumped up for the purpose of confusing the public as to the real question. Hoping to create a favorable public opinion the dissatisfied employees have endeavored to give the impression that the trouble at the works was ever graft, the renting of houses and the so-called 'piece pool system.'"

"The truth of the matter is, that according to the wording of the petition presented by the so-called executive committee of the employees on Aug. 5, the demands were for wage scale prior to April, 1907; also time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays; no employees to be discharged without the case has been investigated and made public to the employee."

"Promptly on the receipt of this petition General Manager Ryder of the company issued a statement that all employees are entitled to fair treatment and will get it."

"An information bureau was opened to act on all complaints. Notices in nine languages were placed about the works. Several hundred complaints have been investigated since that time. The bulk of these complaints proved to be based on misunderstandings on the part of the men themselves."

"The men now in the works seem to be entirely contented. Their number is increasing every day and they are turning out increasingly good work. So as to make sure that the food the men eat is good, different clerks take the same bill of fare as the men every day and thus keep check on its quality."

KELLOGG SOUNDS WARNING

Assistant Forester Sees Menace in Timber Destruction.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Carelessness in the production of timber and recklessness in its use because it has been cheap and abundant has brought upon the nation a menace which will take many years of vigorous effort by individual forest owners, by the states and by the national government to overcome and to reach the necessary condition of equilibrium between timber production and consumption, says R. S. Kellogg, assistant forester, in a forest service publication.

"We are cutting our forests three times as fast as they are growing," is Mr. Kellogg's comment. "The total yearly drain upon our forests, not counting losses from fires, storms and insects," he says, "is some twenty billion cubic feet. The annual growth of our forests does not exceed twelve cubic feet per acre, a total of less than seven billion cubic feet."

LOST IN WOODS.

Canada's Governor General Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 31.—Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, who returned here from Dawson and Skagway by the government steamer Quadrant, had a narrow escape from death while lost in the woods of Jervia Island for five and a half hours last Saturday during a shooting expedition. He was without companions other than his dog.

Earl Grey said he went into the woods and after penetrating some distance he lost his way and night came on. When he failed to return for dinner the steaming whistle was

GOVERNOR GENERAL GREY.

kept blowing constantly. Foes were built on the beach and search parties were sent into the woods. Meanwhile the governor general clambered over the fallen trees, fought his way through undergrowth and slid down rocks in the darkness, tearing his clothes to rags. Once he came to the edge of a precipice while feeling his way with an Alpinestock and slipped from his hands and clattered down a considerable distance below.
The governor general turned back and, falling in the darkness to find his way, finally sank down exhausted after five and a half hours of unavailing effort. He leaned against what he thought was a log but it proved to be a shadow and he tumbled into the undergrowth. Then the lost man sank down on a flat rock to await daylight and soon afterward saw the reflection of a fire. It was an Indian encampment. He fired his rifle and the shot was heard by a searching party, which shouted. When his answering "Hello" was heard, the rescuers hurried to him and took him to the shore where the waiting boat conveyed him quickly to the Quadrant.

"I'M ALL RIGHT."

Says Harriman and Dictates a Statement of His Health.

Arden, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Edward H.
Harriman, urged by weary representatives of the press who have camped about his mountain home since Wednesday last, came out with a statement that he was all right.

"If there should be anything serious I will let the press know and as I have never deceived them, I ask that the press now withdraw its representatives and rely on me."

The general opinion is that Mr.
Harriman would have broken his silence long ere now had he realized how his continued silence and that of his family and associates bred wild and sensational rumors.

Mr. Harriman's statement follows:
"I am pursuing the course laid out before I went abroad and advised by the physicians. I intended taking a rest as soon as my responsibilities would permit. My treatment abroad reduced my strength and vitality and weakened my digestion. The most expert physicians in Munich advised me to have an examination by surgeons as a matter of precaution. This was done very carefully and the whole result is that they find nothing serious and renew the advice previously obtained that I should have rest and not keep many people at one time, and this I am trying to do."

RELIEF CORPS ARE ORGANIZED

To Render Assistance to Mexico's Home-

DEATH ROLL MAY REACH 2,000

Soup Kitchens Have Been Established Throughout Territory Ravaged by Recent Great Disaster and Few Have Gone Hungry.

Mexico City, Aug. 31.—Order is gradually coming out of the chaotic condition caused in Monterey by the overflow of the Santa Catarina river entailing the loss of some 1,400 lives and the ruin of more than $25,000,000 worth of property, but relief work now well organized will be necessary for a long time.

Various organized relief corps are busily engaged in assisting thousands of homeless. Commissioners are endeavoring to identify the dead bodies as they are brought in by searchers.

The authorities have taken prompt steps to overcome the deplorable conditions that existed for fully two days after the crest of the flood passed.
Few, if any, have gone hungry.
Soup kitchens have been established at four different places throughout the city, where soup, coffee and bread are doled out to the needy. Of the nearly 700 bodies thus far recovered, about 200 having been identified were buried.

Owing to reports that several villages of from 50 to 100 inhabitants situated along the Santa Catarina river south of Monterey were wiped out and their inhabitants drowned, Pedro Trevino, a capitalist, asserted his belief that the total dead would reach 2,000.

Monterey is still in darkness. The burst water main has not yet been repaired, but officers of the company expect to offer a partial water supply soon.

The National railway for the first time got telegraph connection between Monterey and Laredo. A message was immediately rushed through from the latter city imperatively requesting the master mechanic, located in Laredo, to hurry forward all available material. Several trains are stalled on the road. Indications are that railway traffic will be impeded until Thursday or Friday.

President Diaz has telegraphed $30, 000 to Monterey. Vice President Corral has contributed $2,000 and Ambassador Thompson $1,000 to the fund for the relief of the sufferers.
Others are contributing liberally, a public subscription list, having been opened in all parts of the republic.

The fact that the Red Cross of the United States is to give aid to the sufferers has been learned here with profound satisfaction. On behalf of the United States government the American ambassador has sent condolences to President Diaz.

MR. GOMPERS ANSWERS BACK.

Resents Rebuke at the International Labor Meeting.

HIS STATUS CAUSES CLASH

Delegates Denounce Attitude of American Federation of Labor in Reference to Joining International Confederation.

Paris, Aug. 31.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was the dramatic center of the first day's session of the sixth International Trade Union congress when several union delegates bitterly denounced what they claimed to be the equivocal attitude of the American federation with reference to joining the international movement. Mr. Gompers needed all his old-time energy to repel the attack.

He insisted that the problems and policies of American trade unionism were so intermingled with American traditions and ideas that Americans could ill spare the time to encounter the influence of European leaders, where the trades unionism tendencies were temperamental different. Nevertheless, as an evidence that the United States was anxious for international cooperation, Mr. Gompers introduced a proposal favoring worldwide organization, which would "defend the rights and interests of all and create international fraternity and solidarity."

The clash came over the question of the exact status of Mr. Gompers and the American Federation of Labor in the conference. Mr. Gompers explained that for the present he was merely an auditor, but was ready to give his opinion. It had been the aspiration of the American workmen to come into closer contact with the labor movement in Europe, as they were profoundly attached to the cause of solidarity of labor. "Personally," he continued, "I have no authority to pledge the affiliation of the American Federation of Labor, but I believe it will come in time."

Mockery, says Austrian delegate. Mr. Gompers' statement was received coldly. Several delegates jumped to their feet to protest. Huber, an Austrian delegate, vehemently characterized Mr. Gompers' explanation as mockery. He, like the others, had been under the impression that the Americans meant business and that Mr. Gompers was the official delegate from that country.

"We thank you for your opinions," he said pointedly, "but we do not need them. Your policies may not permit you to come to us, but one day, American workmen, you will realize that your policies are erroneous and you will see the necessity of joining the international confederation." Mr. Gompers, standing under the rebuke, indignantly arose to reply:

"I regret," he exclaimed, "that you have misconstrued my remarks as an attack upon European trade unionism. I repeat, we are sincerely desirous of international federation, but only so far as it preserves the American conception of unionism. If Europe does not want us it will be unfortunate. Nevertheless, we will continue to do everything possible to attain the goal for which the human race is struggling—the international fraternity and unity."

Huber retorted that it was now seven years since the Americans began talking about joining the international confederation and it was about time a decision was reached. "It now appears," he concluded, "that Mr. Gompers is merely on a voyage of discovery."

TOOK REFUGE IN SWAMP

Man Attacks Girl in Cemetery and Angry Crowd Gives Chase.

Toledo, O., Aug. 31.—Accused of attacking an eighteen-year-old girl in Forest cemetery, Ed. Bell, of Bellevue, of unknown residence, was pursued by a crowd of residents of the neighborhood and took refuge in a swamp. He was pulled out by police, who were informed by a woman who was in the swamp up to his armpits in mud and water.

The girl, with a thirteen-year-old companion, was in the cemetery. It is said, for a purpose similar to that of Anna Shumacher, who was attacked and murdered in Rochester several weeks ago, when she was visiting the cemetery to place flowers on her mother's grave, and whose murderer has not been detected.

ENDED IN MARRIAGE

Couple in Suicide Pact Are Made Man and Wife.

New York, Aug. 31.—Frank Williamson and Florence L. Wood of Brooklyn were married in a Brooklyn hospital, where they are recovering from bullet wounds inflicted in a suicide pact.

Their nearly successful attempt at death brought the young couple to their senses and at the same time won the consent of the girl's parents to their marriage. Both Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are blind in one eye as a result of the shooting.

SMITHFIELD.

SMITHFIELD, August 30.—T. R. Lynch arrived home at Fairbank from Alabama Saturday night. He came on here after his daughter, Miss Elizabeth, of Scotland, spent Sunday here with her friends. Mr. Lynch thinks there is great possibilities for the man with capital and energy in agricultural pursuits in parts of Alabama that he visited. The soil produces anything except corn and peaches that are grown here and many things that we cannot grow. The country is infested with South Sea scale. Only for this pest peaches could be grown. Lynch thinks the soil is good. Lynch is a great number of them from Chicago. Machinery, engineers, fencers, and other kind of men, all going there with but about means and no experience in the cultivation of the soil. These for lack of sufficient fertilizers and experience in agriculture, are barely making a living. Land can be bought there, outside of the Northern Land Company's holdings, for $25 an acre and just as good as the land that they ask for $50 per acre for, and Mr. Lynch believes a man or a company of men with sufficient capital and energy in the cultivation of this land and farm it on scientific principles would realize profit on their investment.

Notwithstanding the rain that came up about noon Saturday and kept a great many away during the day there were thousands attended the union Sunday School picnic at Weaver's grove. Paul Abraham was given the exclusive right to run a refreshment stand on the picnic grounds, and he is paying the Smithfield Cornet Band $10 for furnishing music for the day and evening. He cleared about $250. All the day long the picnic grounds were crowded with people. The picnic was a great success and the money raised will be used for the benefit of the Smithfield Cornet Band.

VALUE OF THE ORGANIZATION.

Philadelphia's Veteran Political Leader, Makes It Clear.

POWERFUL AS A BREAKWATER

Candidates For State Office, Well Equipped For Places to Which They Are Named—Faith in the Growth of Prosperity Attended.

Special to The Courier.

PHILADELPHIA, August 30.—

The need and value of organization in the political field was admirably set forth by David H. Lane, the veteran Republican leader of Philadelphia, in his speech of acceptance on the occasion of his being re-elected chairman of the city committee. He made it clear that political organizations are as valuable on account of the evils they avert as for the advantages they produce.

The organization represents a conservative body whose unwritten laws act as a breakwater for dangerous social philosophies, public hysteria, popular tumults, the fluctuations of power and individual or class tyranny. It accomplishes the last by its advocacy of candidates who represent with completeness and proportions the various and often conflicting class interests, so that the wants of each class are recognized and the grievance of each is heard and redressed.

The science of politics is indispensable to a free and progressive people. The first duty imposed on the organization is to educate the people, to warn its faith, to direct its energies and to adapt its efforts to time and place and to modify them in compliance with the occurrences of the age, and about all that men should be taught an equal attachment and respect for the law, of which they are the common authors.

There are excellent patriotic citizens who confound the abuse of party with its benefits, and the ideal of evil seems to be inseparable in their minds from that of political activity. While it is often times difficult to induce political opponents of the great Republican organization of Pennsylvania to accept the truth, the purpose of that organization is ever to convince them of their error by action and achievement, and in that line of endeavor, Senator Boies Penrose, the head of the organization, is a shining exemplar with a long list of successes is attest to the excellence of his work.

The different relations of men become more complicated as society becomes more numerous. The new problems that arise from time to time should be studied, not with the belief that things are going right until it is proved they are going wrong, but rather that they are going wrong until it is proved they are going right. Even with this caution errors may be made, but extreme errors become impossible.

It is also the duty of those allied with the organization to look beyond the smoke and turmoil of petty quarrels that may at times arise, and to detect in the slow development of the past the slow permanent forces that are steadily bearing onward to improvement or decay. The strongest of these forces is moral rather than political. Under our form of government we do not vote for the policy but for the individual who embodies it. We should, therefore, inquire: Are our candidates men of sincere convictions, sound judgment and consistent lives, or are they men who resort to the arts of the demagogue, men of unstable tongues and not earnest beliefs?

The organization represents absolute equality; all are admitted to its ranks. One can scarcely meet a single great political event that has not turned to the advantage of equality. Our splendid educational system has constructed a highway from the cabin to the university, has developed men who have discovered fresh truths, and every new idea is a germ of power placed within the reach of the people. And, finally, the deliberations and conclusions of the organization ever bear in mind that a sovereign power exists above all that may destroy or modify at its pleasure—that of the people.

It is conformity with these sound truths and principles that the Republican party of Pennsylvania has placed before the people of this Commonwealth as its candidates at the coming State election, such splendid, well-equipped men as Senator A. B. Sloan, of Erie, for Auditor General; J. A. Lober, of Lancaster, for State Treasurer; and Judge Robert von Moschinsky, of Philadelphia, for the Supreme Bench. They deserve and have the confidence of the people and their election is assured.

With a big winter wheat crop already garnered, a record-breaking spring wheat yield in the Northwest, and a corn production, which, barring early frosts, promises to run close to the three billion bushel mark, the agricultural States are furnishing, according to financiers and manufacturers, the basis for a new and long lease on prosperity. Acknowledgment by railroad managements that prosperity is here and faith that it will grow steadily, is evidenced in the amount of railroad buying in the steel market. An extra session of Congress in the fall of 1910 to consider the legislation to be recommended by the monetary commission will be avoided if possible, was decided at a conference of President Taft with Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and Franklin B. Rowland, secretary of the Treasury, held at Beverly recently. While no determination of the general character of the report of the commission is yet hazarded by Senator Aldrich, who is its chairman, it is known that he told the President of the strong tendency in the commission toward the substitution of a central bank of issue for the present monetary system. Senator Aldrich has since then sailed for Europe to make important investigations of foreign systems, bearing upon the question of changing that of the United States. Upon his report to be made to the commission on his return, about November 1, will be based the plan it will then outline for future work.

A CLEVER RECTOR.

How He Got All the Young Men to Church on Sunday.

"Many interesting stories are told of Bishop Wilmer of Alabama, who was noted for his wit and sharp repartee," said a clergyman. A story which is considered characteristic of the man was told by Virginia minister:

"When Bishop Wilmer was rector of the little Protestant Episcopal church at Upperville, Va., he was much worried by the nonattendance at service on Sundays of the majority of the young men of the community. On inquiry he found that instead of going to church they were in the habit of playing marbles for stakes. Marbles in those days, it must be remembered, was a much more serious game than it is now, occupying much the same position in the realm of sports as do billiards and pool to-day.

"Bishop Wilmer, then a parson not well known, determined to break up this practice. He himself had been an expert marble player in his boyhood. Accordingly, one Saturday he came across a number of the young men engaged in a game. The good bishop asked several questions and finally challenged the lot to play him for 'keeps.' They readily consented.

"Much to their astonishment, the young minister won steadily, and soon they had to go to the stores to replenish their stock. Toward the close of the afternoon Mr. Wilmer had won every marble in the town of Upperville. Putting his 'winning' in a bag, he remarked as he walked away, 'Now, gentlemen, since you can't play marbles, I hope to see you all at church.' And he did."—Washington Herald.

THE AFRICAN MARKET.

Prices That Wild Animals Bring in the Interior.

The prices of wild animals naturally fluctuate with the demand. An excessive supply of rhinoceroses would soon reduce the market value. Five for sale at any time in the world would glut the market, for one cannot sell a rhinoceros every day. The maintenance of wild animals is costly and they soon eat their value in food, so that every day they are on the hunter's or the dealer's hands he is losing money.

After the animals are captured they have to be transported to the coast. This adds greatly to the cost. Delivered at Nairobi or Port Florence, which are inland and practically on the African hunting field, a baby rhinoceros of the preborealis hippo species will bring from $375 to $500, a lion from $250 to $350 and a baby hippopotamus from $250 to $450, and most of the large antelope from $125 to $200, elephants from $375 to $575, lions and leopards, with the exception of the black species of the latter, from $100 to $425, according to size and condition. The gorilla and the square muzzled (or so called white) rhinoceros can be sold at auction by telegraph. Their value might run from $5,000 to $30,000, according to the bidding.—Hampton's Magazine.

Diplomacy.

Sunday passed and Monday rolled around, and still his tail form did not get into the vestibule when the cuckoo clock was sounding 8. Thursday he came, and the beautiful girl was burning with wrath.

"So this is the way you neglect me!" she hissed. "What have you to say for yourself? Why didn't you come?" "I couldn't," faltered the young man. "I had the dyspepsia, and the doctor advised me not to come."

"What—the doctor told you not to come to see me because you had the dyspepsia?" "Well, he told me to keep away from all sweets."

The next moment she had him seated on the parlor sofa, telling him that was the nicest young man in the world.—London Express.

Little Willie Knew.

Little Willie, the son of a German-town woman, was playing one day with the girl next door when the latter exclaimed:

"Don't you hear your mother calling you? That's three times she's done so. Aren't you going to?"

"Not yet," responded Willie impatiently.

"Won't she whip you?" demanded the little girl, awed.

"She will," exclaimed Willie in disgust. "She ain't going to whip nobody! She got company. So, when I go in, she'll just say, 'The poor little man has been so deaf since he's had the measles.'"

CHAPTER XXII.

The Man on the Frenchman. Sinclair's pulse on the Frenchman backed up on a sharp rise against the foothills of the Bridger range, and the ranch buildings were strung along the creek. The ranchhouse stood on ground high enough to command the country for miles up and down the valley. Only two roads lead from Medicine Bend and the south into the Frenchman country: one a wagon road following Smoky creek and running through Dale canyon; the other a pack road, known as the Griddle trail, crossing the Toph Toph hills and making a short cut from the Dunning ranch on the Crawling Stone to the Frenchman. The entire valley lay, in fact, so difficult of access, save by the long and roundabout wagon road, that the sight of a complete outfit of buildings such as that put up by Sinclair always came as a surprise to the traveler, who, reaching the crest of the hills, looked suddenly down 1,000 feet on his well-ordered sheds and barns and corrals.

Over the Griddle trail from the Crawling Stone Marion and Dickie had come early in the morning of the day after McCloud and his men left the Stone ranch with their work done. The trail is a good three hours long, and they reached Sinclair's place at about ten o'clock. He was waiting for Marion—he had sent word she should come—and he came out of the front door into the sunshine with a smile of welcome when he saw Dickie with him. Dickie, long an admirer of Sinclair's, was usually very polite, but on this occasion he was somewhat violently of opinion of him. She faced him now with a criminal consciousness that she knew too much. The weight of the dreadful secret weighed on her, and her responsibility to the issue of the day ahead did not help to make her greeting an easy one. One thing only was fixed in her mind and reflected in the tension of her lips and her eyes: The resolve to keep at bay every thought that might lead to a disclosure of the truth.

"No, Dickie, you," So Marion, quite red and wretchedly ill at ease, walked into the ranchhouse first. Sinclair shone nowhere better than as a host. When he had placed his guests comfortably in the living room, he told them the story of the building of the house. Then he made a clearance of himself, and explained, with running comments, each feature of his plan as he showed how it had been carried out through the various rooms. Surprised at the attractiveness of things, Dickie found herself making mental notes for her own use, and began asking questions. Sinclair was superb in answering, but the danger of admitting things became at once apparent. When Dickie exclaimed over a handsome bowtie, "I've never seen another skin for you—a silver-tipped," he added, in deep, gentle tones, addressing Marion. "It has a fine head, as fine as I ever saw in the States. It is down at Medicine Bend now, being dressed and mounted. By the way, I've forgotten to ask you, Miss Dickie, about the high water. How did you get through at the ranch?"

Dickie, sitting on the piano bench, looked up with resolution. "Bravely!" she exclaimed. "Mr. McCloud came to our rescue with bags and mattresses and 100 men, and he has put in a re-volvement 1,000 feet long. Oh, we are regular river experts at our house now! Had you any trouble here, Mr. Sinclair?"

"No, Dickie, you," So Marion, quite red and wretchedly ill at ease, walked into the ranchhouse first. Sinclair shone nowhere better than as a host. When he had placed his guests comfortably in the living room, he told them the story of the building of the house. "I've a great deal more over here," he said, waving Dickie's continued refusal magnificently aside as he moved into the next room. "I've got a few good dogs, and I hunt just enough to keep my hand in with a rifle." Dickie smiled a little at the smile that went with the words. "The men, at least the kind I mix with, don't care for grizzly skins, and to enjoy anything you've got to have sympathetic company—don't you know that?" he asked, looking admiringly at Dickie. "I've got another skin for you—a silver-tipped," he added, in deep, gentle tones, addressing Marion. "It has a fine head, as fine as I ever saw in the States. Sinclair, at the bench and leaning against the tree, sat with folded arms looking at his wife. Marion, in a hickory chair, faced him.

"No one would like to see you be all you ought to be more than I, Murray; but you are the only one in the world that can ever give yourself another chance to be that."

"The fellows in the saddle here now have denied me every chance to make a man of myself again on the railroad—you know that, Marion. In fact, they never did give me the show I was entitled to. I ought to have had Halley's place. Blacks never treated me right in that; he never pushed me in the way he pushed other men that were just as bad as I ever was. It discouraged me, that's the reason I went to pieces."

"It could be no reason for treating me as you treated me; for bringing drunk men and drunken women into our house, and driving me out of it unless I would be what you were and what they were."

"I know I haven't treated you right; I've treated you shamefully. I will do anything on earth you say to square this. I will! Recollect I had lived among men and in the same country with women like that for years before I knew you. I didn't know how to treat you; I admit it. Give me another chance, Marion."

"I give you all that I had when I married you, Murray. I haven't anything more to give to any man. You would be disappointed in me if I could ever live with you again, and I could not do that without living a lie every day."

He bent forward, looking at the ground. He talked of their first meeting in Wisconsin; of the happiness of their little courtship; he brought up California again, and the northwest coast, where he told her, a great railroad was to be built and he should find the chance he needed to make a record

For a few minutes Dickie lingered wildly on the piano at some half-gotten air, and in a fever of excitement walked out on the porch to see where they were. To her relief, she saw Marion sitting near Sinclair under the big tree in front of the house, where the horses stood. Dickie, with her hands on her girle, walked forlornly back and forth, hummed a tune, sat down in a rocking chair, fanned herself, rose, walked back and forth again, and reflected that she was perfectly helpless, and that Sinclair might kill Marion a hundred times before she could reach her. And the thought that Marion was perhaps wholly unconscious of danger increased her anxiety.

She sat down in despair. How could Whispering Smith have allowed any one he had a care for to be exposed in this dreadful way? Trying to think what to do, Dickie hurried back to the living room, walked to the piano, took the pile of sheet music from the top, and set down to thumb it over. She threw down a song on the chair beside her. They were sheets of gaudy coon songs and ragtime with flaring covers, and they seemed to give off odors of cheap perfume. Dickie hardly saw the titles as she passed them over, but of a sudden she stopped. Between two sheets of music lay a small handkerchief. It was mislaid, and in the corner of it "No. 11" was written conspicuously in a laundry mark. The odor of musk became in an instant sickening. Dickie threw the music disdainfully aside, and sprang up with a flushed face to leave the room. Sinclair's remark about her work came back to her. From that moment Dickie hated him. But no sooner had she reached herself on the porch than she remembered she had left her hat in the house, and rose to go in after it. She was resolved not to leave it under the roof another moment, and she had resolved to go over and wait where her horse was tied. As she re-entered the doorway she stopped. In the room she had just left a cowboy sat at the table, and he was looking at her. Dickie's revolver was spread in his hands before him, and across the table lay a rifle. The man had not been in the room when she left it a moment before.

Dickie passed behind him. He paid no attention to her; he had not looked up when she entered the room. Passing behind him once more to go out, Dickie looked through the open window before which he sat, Sinclair and Marion sitting under the cottonwood tree in plain sight, and the music of the ride where it lay covered them. Dickie thrilled; but the light was busy with his work. Breathing deeply, she walked out on the porch again. Sinclair, she thought, was looking straight at her, and in his hand, she felt the first woman she ever saw, walked to the end of the house, and at the corner almost ran into a man sitting out of doors in the shade, leaning against a saddle. He had removed his belt to work, and his revolver lay in the holster on the bench. His grip just within reach of his hand. Dickie walked in front of him, but he did not look up. She turned as if changing her mind, and with a little flit of her riding skirt sat down in the porch chair, feeling a faint moisture upon her forehead.

"I am going to leave this country," Marion. Sinclair was saying. "There's nothing here for me; I can see that. What's the use of my eating my heart out over the way I've been treated? I've given the best years of my life to this railroad, and now they turn me down with a kick and a curse. It's the old story of the Indian and his dog, only I don't propose to let them make soup of me. I'm going to the coast, Marion. I'm going to California, where I wanted to go when we were married, and I wish to God we had gone there then. All our troubles might never have been if I had got in with a different crowd from these cow-boys on the staff. And, Marion, I want to know whether you'll give me another chance and go with me."

"No, I will not go with you, Murray," he moved in his seat and threw his head up appealingly. "Why not?" "I will never be dishonest with you; I never have been and I never will be. I have, nothing in my heart to give you, and I will not live upon your money. I am earning my own living. I am as content as I ever can be, and I shall stay where I am and do what I am doing till I die, probably. And this is why I came when you asked me to tell you the exact truth. I am not a girl any longer—I never can be again. I am a woman. What I was before, I married you I never can be again, and you have no right to ask me to be a hypocrite and say I can love you—for that is what it all comes to—when I have no such thing in my heart or life for you. It is dead and gone, and I cannot help it."

"That sounds pretty hard; Marion," it is only the truth. It sounded fearfully hard to me when you told me that woman was your friend—that you knew her before you knew me, and that she was no good as I and that I didn't, either; but you told me the truth, and it was better than you told me. It is better now that I tell it to you."

"I was drunk. I didn't tell you the truth. A man is a pretty tough animal sometimes, but you are a woman and a pure one, and I care more for you than for all the other women in the world, and it is not your nature to be untruthful."

"It is to be honest," he looked suddenly up at her and spoke sharply. "Marion, I know why you won't go."

"I have honestly told you."

"No; you have not honestly told me. The real reason is Gordon Smith."

"If he were I should not hesitate to tell you, Murray; but he is not," she said, coldly.

Sinclair spoke harshly. "Do you think you can fool me? Don't you suppose I know he spends his time loafing around your shop?"

"Marion flushed indignantly. "It is not true!"

"Don't you suppose I know he writes letters back to Wisconsin to your folks?"

"What have I to do with that? Why shouldn't he write to my mother? Who has a better right?"

"Don't drive me too far, by God! I go away alone I'll never leave

New Autumn Goods Many New Styles

The Union Supply Company stores are already receiving and placing on sale their new Autumn goods for Women, Misses and Children. After many weeks of careful buying by practical, experienced men, we feel safe in declaring to our trade that our stocks this Fall are equal to, or might say better than any line that we have seen elsewhere.

In Domestic Dry Goods of all classes; in Women's and Misses' Made-up Underwear and all sorts of Furnishings; in all the little novelties that Women, Misses and Children must have, we feel quite sure we cannot be excelled in style or quality, and we are just as sure that our prices for the same class of goods are the lowest you will find.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE PLAYHOUSES HEREBABOUTS.

This Promises to Be Banner Year for Theatrical Attractions and Many Good Shows Are Booked.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD AT SOISSON

Already Over 40 Attractions Are Scheduled to Appear There and More Dates Are Coming in—Colonial Also in Field.

Potent forces are working to give Conneltsville the best line of shows during the approaching season that has ever been known here. These forces are the "open door" policy and the activity of the Belasco interests in this section. Now the "open door" is confined, principally, to the South and West, and has not made much of an impression in the East. Whether it strikes this section remains to be seen. Certain it is that it will not make itself felt around here for some time, at least.

But the "open door" is going to help Conneltsville more than Belasco competition. In the South and West there is war to the knife with the trust. The result is that those managers operating independent houses will not get the syndicate attractions, and these last, denied admission to the western houses by their booking agents, the K. & E. combination, will spend more than the usual amount of time in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. And the answer to the whole problem is that the houses in these States are going to get some rattling good attractions.

With the Shubert interests booking their attractions to the Colonial theatre, the syndicate is going to send some mighty strong shows to Manager Fred Robbins at the Soisson, and while the Colonial will play some of those incomparable Belasco attractions, the best road shows of the syndicate will make its stands in Conneltsville and at the Soisson.

Manager Fred Robbins has already secured sufficient bookings to be assured of a successful season. He has more than 40 shows scheduled for the Soisson and more are yet to come. Among the 40 are some stagers. "The Climax," which is a New York sensation, "Paid in Full," remarkably popular here; "The Girl From Rector's," enjoyed by those who like spicy musical plays; "The Third Degree," a Kleis success, rivalling "The Lion and the Mouse," and other winners will make their appearance at the Soisson. There will be a number of good musical comedies, too, for the prediction is made that the girl shows are to be the popular attractions this season. One of the best of these promised the Soisson is "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," which is a scream.

Aside from the formal announcement that the Colonial would present the Belasco attractions this season, no further intelligence has been given out by the management of that popular house. That the Colonial will have some good attractions, including "The Witches' Hour" and other Belasco masterpieces, is to be expected.

Well, well, here are the Keyes Sisters in our midst once more. Stuck at the Soisson this week, just a score of an interlude between the opening musical show last week and the opening of the long list of bookings in the near future.

Manager Fred Robbins is to have a new house in Uniontown, and that before long. This season, however, will see the Grand there doing business as usual. "Paid in Full" is the opening show.

Home talent attractions are on the boards now. Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stout got hold of "The Mikado," which Uniontown talent is struggling, just in time to whip the show in shape. It will hold forth at the Colonial Wednesday night and local folks will have a chance to judge whether Uniontown has anything on Conneltsville in the operatic line. "The Mikado" has anything on "Pinafore," it will go down.

There is said to be a dearth of chorus girls along Broadway. And for the first time for several seasons the chorus lady is in demand. Nearly a dozen musical shows will hit the road during the coming season, all of them new, too.

"Girls Will Be Girls" is coming. Just to think that the old show is still very much alive. Al Leech is making too much money on the Keith vaudeville circuit to hit the pike again but a New York comedian of no small proportions heads the vehicle this season. Coming here? Sure thing. "Girls Will Be Girls" would as soon pass up a Broadway date as to miss Conneltsville.

It is not at all unlikely that Dick Ryan will be house treasurer at the Colonial. Dick held that job during R. W. Singer's management and would look natural in the box office. During the summer he has been pushing tickets through the wicker at the bull park.

W. H. Mentzer is back on the job at the Soisson after pitching hay for a few weeks down on the Cumberland valley farm not far from Carlisle.

Billy likes country life but the Uncle of the coin at the box office jures him back to old haunts.

Manager Fred Robbins has thoroughly renovated both the Soisson theatre here and the Grand Opera House in Uniontown. Fred is again spending his time between the two houses preparing for the best season he has had yet.

Last season was a frost as far as attractions were concerned, none of the good shows getting out until after Christmas. This season promises to supply lots of good things from start to finish.

NEW POSITION FOR HOYT

Solicitor General Will Be Counselor of State Department.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 31.—President Taft disposed of important state department matters with Secretary Knox. Among the announcements made was the selection of Henry Hoyt, former solicitor general, as

HENRY M. HOYT, counselor of the state department. This is a newly created office, and Secretary Knox expressed himself as delighted that he was able to secure the services of Mr. Hoyt to give the new office a proper dignity from the very first.

The counselor of the department will deal with all the large legal questions and will have especial supervision over the negotiation of treaties. The important Japanese treaty is to be entered into within the next two years and Mr. Hoyt will devote himself largely to the framing of this measure and to preparing the preliminary foundation for the negotiations. International law will be the field of the counselor and Secretary Knox feels that a long existing want in the department has been happily filled.

KEENE'S COLT WINNER.

In Twenty-second Running of the Futurity Race at Sheephead Bay.

New York, Aug. 31.—So hard held that his head lay almost in his rider's lap, and yet, withal, maintaining his graceful long stride and with his feet none of foot unimpaired, James R. Keene's Sweep, a son of Brush-Pink Domino, won the twenty-second running of the futurity at Sheephead Bay. Sweep's share of the purse of $31,000 was $27,000.

No day fairer ever dawned for the running of the futurity, which is the blue ribbon of the American turf for two-year-olds and always carried the richest purse hung up for the baby racers. The sunshine, a cloudless sky and a rippling breeze all united to make life worth living to the 15,000 spectators.

QUAKE AT PANAMA.

Canal Not Believed to Have Been Damaged.

Panama, Aug. 30.—The isthmus of Panama experienced an earth shock extending over a large extent of territory. No damage was done, however, nor is it believed that the canal has been effected in any way.

Lieutenant Colonel G. W. Goethals gave out the following statement: "The seismographs on the isthmus recorded earth movements at various stations across the isthmus. However, they were not sufficiently severe to be generally felt nor to have any injurious effects on any of the canal work now in execution or in prospect."

A. F. of L. to Celebrate at Vandergrift. Washington, Aug. 31.—The American Federation of Labor has decided to celebrate labor day at Vandergrift, Pa., the scene of the iron and steel workers' strike. The organization is under the ban at Vandergrift and there is much interest in the outcome of the celebration. A number of federation orators will speak.

The Comic Opera "Mikado." "The Mikado," for the benefit of the Uniontown Y. M. C. A., will be given Sept. 1st at the Colonial theatre, Conneltsville, at 8:15 P. M. by a company of 45 singers, headed by Mrs. Susan Brooks Rutherford. Seats 50 cents to $1.00 now on sale at Sam F. Hood's.

Eclipse of Mars Tomorrow Evening.
Genova, N. Y., Aug. 31.—An interesting eclipse of Mars by the moon visible throughout the United States will occur tomorrow evening. The phenomenon will last about an hour, beginning in the longitude of Washington at 3:42 p. m. and ending at 9:39. At places west of Washington the occultation will occur earlier and at places east of Washington later. The eclipse will be visible to the naked eye.

The Cokers lost their third straight game to Grafton and became members of the second division yesterday when Jones beat Willis 6 to 5. Willis was unsteady in the first two innings, after which his delivery was a puzzle to most of the Grafton hitters. Only Dan Riley and Gansler were able to solve the problem effectively.

The Cokers did not get to Jones in the first three innings but when they began to climb upward. They came within one run of being the score but sharp fielding by Grafton saved the game. While all this was going on Uniontown took two from Fairmont.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY.
Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the hair is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps its vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Nowhere's Hairdressing, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Bright New Gingham for the Making of School Frocks

It doesn't take very long to make a handsome little school frock from gingham and there's so many pretty ways of making them. The planer making the better the frock will look for the gingham's themselves are so attractive in coloring and designing or trimming is superfluous.

The fabrics that have to do with this telling are all new in design and present patterns that will form very snappy, stylish little school dresses. Remember that this is the last week you have for preparation. School balls will be giving Monday and your little girl will wish to be as fetchingly dressed as any of them. She can be and at very little cost as these gingham are only 12½¢ a yard.

Irish Poplins in all the New Fall Shades

Highly mercerized fabrics made from double-twisted two-ply yarns and woven in conformity to the demand for soft draping, clinging materials for the making of dresses and suits. Some of these are entirely plain materials and others have self-colored stripes. These stripes being more highly mercerized than the body of the fabrics. The high lustre and beautiful colorings of Fall Poplins taken in conjunction with the extremely moderate price, have placed them in the lead of all fall cotton dress materials.

The leading new shades that are shown in these materials are Pompadour, Seres, Orleans, Cuirasse, Grenadier, Fusile, Bleu Russe, Chevrete and Alpiste. All of these colors are strictly fast in dye and present a soft rich beauty that is almost unbelievable in fabric so low in price.
